Wikipedia is in Turkish: And this page is for Turkish translation pack: Inhibition of thrombin generation by the alpha-cyclohexylsulfonyl derivative of hirudin. We studied the effect of the alpha-cyclohexylsulfonyl derivative of hirudin (K1) on thrombin generation in human plasma in vitro. The dose of K1 causing inhibition of the generation of thrombin in human plasma ($IC_{50} = 1.1 \pm 0.3$ nM) was about 30 times less than that required to inhibit thrombin itself ($IC_{50} = 110 \pm 40$ nM). In contrast, the corresponding amino acid derivative was inactive in both tests. The effect of K1 on thrombin generation was markedly inhibited in the presence of heparin, and the degree of inhibition was related to the concentration of K1. K1 at concentrations which inhibit th
